Warsaw, Dec. 4.

THE 28th of last Month, the Polish and Swedish Commissioners sat till 11 a Clock at Night, to finish some Articles of the Treaty, but the Swedish Commissioners insisting for Protestants to be allow'd a Church in Thorn, they broke up without coming to any Conclusion: Whereupon King Stanislaus went at Midnight to Blonia, whence he return'd hither the 29th, with his Swedish Majesty's Order to his Commissioners to recede from all the Articles demanded in Favour of Protestants. Immediately Deputies were sent to Blonia, to thank the King of Sweden for his Compliance and Readiness to conclude the Treaty; which has been publish'd here.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated December 22.

Warsaw, December 4. On Sunday the 6th of this Month Te Deum will be sung in our Cathedral, in Thanksgiving for the Conclusion of the Treaty with Sweden, which is to be ratified on the 5th by King Stanislaus and the King of Sweden. The Substance of some Articles of the Treaty, is, I. That no Province of the Kingdom shall be parted from it. II. That the Republick shall continue in the same Condition it was in formerly. III. That this Treaty shall be founded on that of Oliva. IV. That the Czar of Muscovy, King Augustus, and their Adherents, shall be declar'd Enemys of Poland. V. That the Swedes shall have Liberty for ever hereafter to levy Troops and Recruits throughout Poland. VI. That they shall be allow'd to bring Wines and Salt from Hungary by the Way of Cracow and Stetin, without paying any Customs. VII. And that the Republick shall acknowledge the King of Prussia, provided he will acknowledge Stanislaus for King of Poland. To Day a Proclamation was publish'd, commanding the Jews to depart this City within 3 Days; But some are of Opinion 'tis design'd only to Squeeze a Sum of Money out of them, and then to give them leave to stay. The Universalia for summoning a general Diet are ready; but 'tis not yet known when they will be sent to the Palatinats by King Stanislaus. In the mean time, the Congress of the Confederates has resolv'd to levy and maintain 20000 Men for that King's Service; and have laid a Tax of 10 Florins on every Hearth throughout Poland, to defray the Charge of those Troops: Commissions are already given out for 6 Regiments, of which one is to be Life-Guards, and to be commanded by M. Tarlo great Cook of the Crown: The Palatins of Smolensko and Tarlo, M. Rofzaeiski Castellan of Merekik, M. Skurauski and another, are to be Collonels of the other 5.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Dec. 22.

Warsaw, Dec. 6. To Day Te Deum was sung for the happy Conclusion of the Treaty between the King of Sweden and King Stanislaus for the Republick. Yesterday Proclamation was made by Sound of Trumpet, that for the future Contributions cease; and that all Goods or Merchandise may pass freely without paying the late Duties, provided the Persons concern'd in such Goods first apply themselves to Count Horn the King of Sweden's chief Commisoner for a Passport. The Swedes have begun to ruin the Houses and lay waste the Lands of King Augustus's Adherents; and we hear the Muscovites do the like by the Adherents of King Stanislaus. The great Council summon'd to Grodno by King Augustus, assembling the 6th of last Month, the Vice-Chancellor of the Crown made a Speech to the Senators and Deputies that appear'd in it in great Number, in which he extoll'd the great Affection and Care his Majesty had shewn for his Subjects, in returning from his Electorate of Saxony, in Contempt of the imminent Danger he ran by the Way of falling into the Hands of the Enemy. And afterwards in his Majesty's Name propos'd the following Points to their Consideration. I. What Measures were fittest to be taken to quiet the Troubles of the Kingdom, to compose Mens Minds, and re-establish the Generals in their Prerogatives. II. Whether it were best to give more Time to the Adherents of Sweden, for accepting the Amnesty formerly offer'd them, or to exclude them. III. That it was very necessary to augment the Army, and particularly the Foot, for the ensuing Campaign. IV. That the Army ought to be united, and commanded by one sole General. V. That upon such Union, it would be necessary to establish a Commission, in some manner or other, for furnishing the Troops with Ammunition Bread during the Winter. VI. How the Artillery of the Crown which is entirely ruin'd, might be put upon a good Foot; and by what means the Garrison of Camineck might be furnish'd with Subsistance. VII. That it was very necessary to ratifie the last Treaty with the Czar of Muscovy, and put it in Execution. VIII. And that Audience ought to be given to the Embassy of the Cham of Tartary. The 27th the Marshal of the Royal Confederacy represented, that the principal Busines was first to ratify the Treaty with the Czar, and that in order thereto it was necessary the Palatin of Culm, who as Ambassador from the King and the Republick had negotiataed it, should report that Negotiation to the Council. That Palatin answer'd, that he could not make that Report in Form, any where than in a general Diet of the Republick; however he produc'd the Articles of that Treaty, and they were read; which done that Palatin took occasion to say, that the Czar had given great Proofs of his Affection and Zeal, not only in furnishing timely the 12000 Men stipulated by that Treaty, but by coming in Person into the Kingdom with a numerous Army, to protect the King and the Republick. The Council adjourn'd to the 1st of December, resolving then to take into Deliberation the Affairs that had been propos'd to them.
